Middle East Tensions Simmer: Wide spread Global Reaction for mass killing in Gaza Strip, Global Powers New Hot bed

"The ongoing power struggles between Western and Asian nations have been unfolding with increasing complexity. Recent reports from trusted sources revealed that high-ranking American military officers in Afghanistan had informed warfront commanders, a year prior, about the intended withdrawal of US military forces from the region. This early disclosure effectively enabled the transfer of power to the Taliban, creating a precarious situation. The consequences of this decision, particularly for the Afghan people and women, have resonated on the global stage.

Concurrently, America had been devising plans for Ukraine to confront Russia. The strategy aimed to support the Ukrainian regime financially and logistically, with the goal of challenging and subduing Russia. However, these efforts proved futile. Despite significant financial, logistical, and military backing, the US and its NATO allies were unable to quell Russia's resilience in the Ukrainian conflict. Russia's alliance with Iran and China remained steadfast.

Following the Hamas border attack in Israel, the indirect but active involvement of America's Asian adversaries has added a significant layer of complexity to the situation. The recent events in Palestine suggest an emerging standoff between America, Britain, and NATO on the western front. This confrontation might escalate, potentially involving Russia, China, and Iran on the eastern front. Consequently, Israel's prolonged dominance as a militant Zionist state for 75 years is now in question.

The relentless attacks on defenceless civilians in Gaza by Israel and the Netanyahu regime lack rational justification and violate international humanitarian law. Gaza has endured weeks of bombardment by Israeli forces, resulting in the tragic loss of more than 9,000 children and over 20,000 casualties.

Professor Wolff's expresses his view on America's isolation and the development of BRICS and he gives the most logical solution for a smooth fall of the American empire. The is part of something that Americans have not yet wrapped up their heads around round. The American Empire like every empire before it is now shrinking. You know empire rise they have a flourish. They grow very impressive they reach at peak. They cannot imagine that it will not last for ever. It never has in the past, the Greek, the Roman, the Persian, the Turkish. You fill in the blank, they all went up then they went down. They ride up and then ride down. The American are in the ride down. We must be careful because denial of most Americans is so far dealing with it. It is not a solution because it does not go away. You pretend it is not happening. The dollar decline is a literal parameter week in and week out that is what we are facing with. The failure in Ukraine is another one. I mean we did not win the war in Vietnam; we did not win in Afghanistan. We did not win in Iraq. You can dance around in 20 different ways. This not an argument that who is a good guy and who is a bad guy. I am just explaining we are facing a decline that is under way. If we are willing to see it and we could have a decent landing not an explosion. I do not know when it is coming. I do not know whether the Chinse will be the next empire or whether it will be handled in a multinational way." He suggested to sit with the members of BRICKs and compromise to live cooperatively rather than confrontation in various places. Otherwise, the world will be faced with a terrible consequence which seems hovering around with the hostilities of countries of nuclear power.

Countries vetoing and voting against the immediate cessation of hostilities in Gaza, perpetuating Israel's ruthless aggression, have prolonged this brutality for 75 years. These nations continue to support and condone aggressive behaviour.

How did America prioritize its support for Israel over the interests of its allies for over five decades?

An Afghan analyst used an analogy likening America's longstanding foreign policy in the Middle East to that of young men who wait for girls to marry them. American politicians exude charisma, dressed in expensive attire, and eloquently articulate their policies, thanks to the influence of the media. But behind this facade lies a jarring truth: these charming figures may order massacres, much like attractive individuals who captivate others with deception, only to turn away later. Psychologists often describe such individuals as deceitful, much like hidden thieves whose true nature remains unseen until they betray."

Is Israel terrorist state? Global Reaction (*)

As we see the situation in the Middle East grows more disastrous by passing every hour, with the war in Gaza raging and risking spiralling throughout the region, United Nations Secretary-General António Guterres warned the Security Council on 24 October 2023, calling for humanitarian aid without restrictions and an immediate ceasefire.

Recalling his unequivocal condemnation of the horrifying and unprecedented 7 October acts of terror by Hamas in Israel, he called for the immediate release of the hostages. As well, he stressed the need for humanitarian aid to be delivered without restrictions, adding: "To ease epic suffering, make the delivery of aid easier and safer, and facilitate the release of hostages, I reiterate my appeal for an immediate humanitarian ceasefire." The attacks by Hamas did not happen in a vacuum, he noted, with the Palestinian people being subjected to 56 years of suffocating occupation, during which they saw their land devoured by settlements; their economy stifled; their homes demolished; and their hopes for a political solution vanishing. However, the grievances of the Palestinian people cannot justify the appalling attacks by Hamas. "And those appalling attacks cannot justify the collective punishment of the Palestinian people," he said, emphasizing: "Even war has rules." At this critical hour, he appealed to everyone to pull back from the brink before the violence claims even more lives and spreads even farther. (1)*

Russia's representative to the United Nations, Vasily Nebenzya, on November 2, 2023, said that Israel has no right to defend itself as it is an occupying power. During his speech before the emergency special session of the UN General Assembly, he pointed out that the United Nations does not have the right to give Israel an absolute mandate to carry out a ground operation in Gaza.

"The only thing they can muster is continued pronouncements about Israel's supposed right to self-defence, although as an occupying power, it does not have that power as confirmed by the advisory opinion of the International Court of Justice handed down in 2004," he explained.

He stressed his country's call to stop the bloodshed in the Middle East, to avoid expanding the scope of the crisis to the entire region, and to work on a diplomatic solution to it. "As for Israel's security – and we recognise its rights to ensure its security – this security can only be fully guaranteed if we resolve the Palestinian issue based on relevant UN Security Council resolutions."

Likewise, Russia's Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov held a call with his Syrian counterpart Faisal Mekdad on Tuesday in which he stressed Moscow's opposition to Israel's increased strikes on Syria in recent weeks amid Tel Aviv's bombardment of the Gaza Strip, its war against Palestinian resistance group Hamas, and its indiscriminate killing of the Strip's civilian population.

Lavrov warned against any actions that could provoke an escalation in the "current explosive situation," and stated that "the spread of the armed escalation to Syria and other countries of the region is impermissible and unacceptable." (1)

Similarly, Iranian Foreign Minister Hossein Amir Abdollahian yesterday warned the United States and Israel that the situation in the region could spiral out of control "at any moment" if the US "proxy war" on Gaza continues. The American proxy war against the people of Gaza, has exposed the region to a powder keg, and any miscalculation, genocide, and forced displacement of the people of Gaza could have equally significant consequences for the region," he said during a joint press conference with his South African counterpart. Yonhap news agency reported that the government of North Korea accused Washington of being behind the current war between Israel and the Palestinian Islamic Resistance Movement, Hamas, saying that the US is “entirely” responsible for this tragedy. Also accused US President Joe Biden’s recent trip to Israel where he reiterated his backing of Israel and condemned a deadly explosion at a hospital in Gaza as a terrorist group.”

“The US is the ringleader in the Middle East situation,” alleged the official Korean Central News Agency in Pyongyang. “A massive battle of slaughter is intensifying in the Middle East due to the biased and intentional instigation of the US.”

The reaction was widespread around the globe. Muslim Americans and some Democratic Party activists say they will work to mobilise millions of Muslim voters to withhold donations and votes towards President Joe Biden’s 2024 re-election unless he takes immediate steps to secure a Gaza ceasefire, Reuters reports.

Dr Abdullah Khalifa Al- Shayji said that since the beginning of Israel’s brutal aggression against the Gaza Strip, its siege and the cutting off all basic supplies, such as water, electricity, and fuel to operate hospital generators, it has been committing widespread and diverse war crimes on many levels, including barbaric and brutal bombing of homes and flats and their destruction over the heads of their residents.” Now the number of martyrs exceeded 9000 and the injured over 20,000. In addition to this, there are more than 2,000 missing people between martyrs and wounded. Israel is using threat to forcibly transfer residents from the north of Gaza to the south, claiming it is safe. However, Israel then bombed the area it claimed was safe and killed hundreds who moved to the south of the Gaza.

Jordanian Foreign Minister, Ayman Al-Safadi, warned against Israel launching a ground war on the Gaza Strip, saying the result would be a humanitarian catastrophe. American writers and researchers also warned that the ground war would cost Israel a lot, as political science professor, Marc Lynch, wrote in Foreign Affairs magazine, “An invasion of Gaza would be a disaster for Israel. America must prevail on its ally to step back from the brink” because it will drag the US into the furnace of the Middle East, and it will be a risky adventure.

Since Hamas launched Operation Al-Aqsa Flood – and Israel responded with Operation Swords of Iron – and after the escalation in the rate of genocidal war crimes and crimes against humanity by bombing residential neighbourhoods and destroying homes over the heads of their residents, using white phosphorus, and the military leadership’s request for the forced transfer of the residents of the north of the Gaza Strip to its south in preparation for a ground invasion, all of which are documented war crimes, the question remains – since the beginning of the war on 7 October, whether the Occupation Forces will go against their conservative position by launching a ground invasion or, as they call it a “manoeuvre” on Gaza, to uproot and end Hamas’ rule in Gaza, or at the very least, to weaken and exhaust Hamas’s rule and role.

One of the most important statements that Netanyahu made during the 23 days of the war on Gaza was his statement before the Israeli Knesset when he promised to fulfil the “Prophecy of Isaiah”. This prophecy is part of the Book of Isaiah, which consists of 66 chapters in the Bible. This prophecy speaks about the establishment of the Greater State of Israel between the Nile and Euphrates Rivers and causing massive destruction in Iraq, Damascus, Yemen and Egypt, Hamid Al-Ezra writes, ()

Likewise, you can listen to the repercussion of Israel attack in Gaza in response to the Hamas invasion of Israel on the 7 of October ,2023 till now in the following links numbered from, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 10 and up to38.

In conclusion it can be predicted that the Israel Zionist regime will not be able to continue its domination in the occupied lands as before as the Empire of America according to professor Wolf is declining and multipolar powers are emerging.
